Overview

Is Brazil a good producer of solar energy?

Just three years ago, Brazil did not feature among the world's top producers of solar energy, but by 2023 it had risen to sixth place in the rankings. The pace of growth has been notable: since 2022, the country has added, on average, roughly one gigawatt of solar capacity every month.

How much solar power does Brazil have in 2022?

In 2022, Brazil was the 8th country in the world in terms of installed solar power capacity (24.079 GW). Brazil expects to have 1.2 million solar power generation systems in the year 2024.

Does Brazil have a 'distributed' solar system?

Allied to this, in 2012 the country gave its authorisation for “distributed” generation – the production of energy on a smaller scale, close to the point of consumption. This format now accounts for almost 70% of solar energy in Brazil, and is the main driver of solar's growth in the country.

What is the future of solar power in Brazil?

Photovoltaic power and wind power are one of the lowest-cost power generation technologies available. In the future, the Brazilian solar market is expected to grow from 37GW in 2023 to 97.46GW in 2028, with a CAGR of 23.30%.

How much energy will Brazil have by 2030?

According to EPE's Ten-Year Energy Expansion Plan, by 2030, Brazil's total national installed capacity will reach approximately 224.3GW, with more than 50% of new installed capacity coming from new energy generation, of which the growth in installed PV capacity will be the largest and fastest growing.

Which region has the most solar power in Brazil?

Today, the north-east leads the country's solar market. According to the Brazilian National Electric Energy Agency (Aneel), the region has accumulated more than 60% of the total power solar capacity that is authorised to operate in the national system (excluding distributed generation).
