Installation plays an instrumental role in the overall worth of solar brackets. Professional installation versus DIY approaches presents two distinct pricing dynamics. Engaging professionals ensures compliance with local codes and enhances system performance, yet it also raises total costs.

Fixed brackets are the most straightforward solutions, designed to hold solar panels in a stationary position. These are often the most affordable option, with prices typically ranging from $10 to $30 per bracket, depending on the manufacturer and quality.

In terms of cost, mounts and racking typically account for about 10% of the total cost of an average solar system. For example, if your solar system cost $10,000, the racking system portion would be about $1,000 of the total cost. The price will depend on the type of racking you use, the amount of equipment needed, and labor costs for installation.

NREL analyzes the total costs associated with installing photovoltaic (PV) systems for residential rooftop, commercial rooftop, and utility-scale ground-mount systems. This work has grown to include cost models for solar-plus-storage systems. NREL's PV cost benchmarking work uses a bottom-up approach. First, analysts create a set of steps . How much does solar installation cost?

According to the NREL data above, installation typically accounts for 5.5% of the total cost of a residential solar project, so this equation will get you a ballpark figure for labor costs. For example, if you receive a solar quote for $25,000, you can expect labor to make up around $1,375 of the all-in cost.

How much does a 6kW Solar System cost?

Including racking and mounting, an average 6kW solar system would cost about $18,000 given the US average solar panel cost of about $3.00 per watt as of January 2023. After applying the federal solar tax credit of 30%, that works out to $12,600.

Should you hold out for cheaper labor or hardware for a solar system?

The big takeaway is that, compared to non-labor soft costs, the cost of labor and solar modules make up a relatively small chunk of the overall project cost. With that information, you may decide that holding out for cheaper labor or hardware is not an effective – or recommended – way to reduce the cost of a solar system.
