Kosovo on grid solar panels

Overview

How much solar power does Kosovo have?

Kosovo had just 7 MW of installed PV capacity at the end of 2019, according to the International Renewable Energy Agency. The country recently raised its renewable energy target to an additional 400 MW of capacity by 2026. That would be enough to meet a quarter of its power demand and would reduce dependence on aging coal-fired power plants.

Will Kosovo use solar energy for district heating?

In late December 2022, Kosovo became the first country in the Western Balkans Economy to use solar energy for district heating. Kosovo's Minister of Finance, Labour and Transfers, Hekuran Murati, said the project would ensure access to the central heating system for about 38,000 citizens.

Where will a solar plant be built in Kosovo?

The solar plant is planned to be built in southwestern Kosovo and to come online next year. The CEO of KOSTT, Mustafa Hasani, left, and the director of Solar Energy Group Europe sh p k, Egbert Schnuse. Image: KOSTT.

How can Kosovo improve its energy sector?

The Group's commitment to helping Kosovo improve its energy sector is broad: projects are designed to improve energy efficiency, ease the policy and regulatory environment for renewable energy and energy efficiency, address the environmental legacy of the old power plants, upgrade power generation to meet demand, and improve water supply.

Where does Kosovo get its electricity?

Most of Kosovo's electricity is supplied as imports or from two lignite-fired thermal power plants, the 40-year-old Kosovo A Power Station (with a 345 MW generation capacity) near Pristina, and the upgraded, 27-year-old Kosovo B Power Station (540 MW) in Obilić. Will Kosovo's first large scale solar park be built?

No further details were revealed on the project. When built, the plant will be Kosovo's first large scale solar park. The Kosovar government has made several attempts to support small sized and utility scale solar in the past. These efforts, however, have produced little results to date.
