Meisile Photovoltaic Bracket

Overview

What makes a Meiser solar mounting system special?

The MEISER Solar mounting system has a lightning protection certification. The continuous electrical connections between terminals, purlins, trusses and posts allow for potential equalization. Only high-quality stainless steel connectors manufactured in Germany are used. Trusses and purlin runners from strip-galvanized Magnelis® also add quality.

Where is Meiser solar made?

MEISER Solar develops and produces mounting systems for solar parks on any site and suitable for any terrain, whether this is agricultural land oder an industrial site, former airfield, mining area, slag heap or former landfill. Our mounting systems are sustainably produced in our own steelworks in Germany and are fully recyclable.

What types of foundations can a Meiser Solar frame system be used for?

They are suitable for pile driven foundations, ballast foundations and concrete foundations and available in four versions. All MEISER Solar frame systems can be set up with just two tools and can thus be mounted especially quickly and efficiently.

Why should you choose a PV bracket?

The choice of bracket directly affects the operational safety, breakage rate and construction investment of PV modules. Choosing the right PV bracket will not only reduce the project cost, but also reduce the post maintenance cost.

What are the different types of PV brackets?

At present, there are 3 types of brackets used in most PV power plants: fixed conventional bracket, adjustable tracking bracket and flexible PV bracket. This refers to the mounting system where the orientation, angle, etc. remain unchanged after installation.

What is a solar racking mounting bracket?

Mounting brackets are heavy-duty equipment, usually made from stainless steel or aluminum. All solar racking and mounting products, whether for the rooftop or ground, must meet strict guidelines to ensure durability and structural integrity to withstand high winds and weather events.
