What is a battery box?

Battery boxes typically have two parts: a base and a lid. The base prevents batteries from shifting and collects any spilled acid. The lid allows easy access to the batteries for maintenance or altering your cable configuration. We offer battery containers made from plastic (polypropylene and polyethylene).

How does a battery box work?

When a battery needs to be left outside or is exposed to water or other elements the box creates a protective seal. This seal also protects against sunlight, rain, dirt, oil, and gasoline. Battery boxes typically have two parts: a base and a lid. The base prevents batteries from shifting and collects any spilled acid.

Building A Better Battery... Using Plastic?

"A plastic battery looks more or less like a conventional battery. It's got an anode, it's got a cathode, it's got an electrolyte, and it's encased in a typical battery form factor. Inside is where the magic happens." Building the battery from polymers, Paster says, allows the company to avoid some of the environmental impact of

Battery Boxes, Plastic Marine Battery Box

Plastic battery boxes are the most cost effective way to secure a battery in nearly any application. Traditionally battery boxes were produced for marine and boat use, but have expanded into almost every application including automotive, commercial, industrial and stand-by applications.
