Solar panels will still work even when the light is reflected or partially blocked by clouds. Rain actually helps to keep your panels operating efficiently by washing away any dust or dirt.

Solar panels will still work even when the light is reflected or partially blocked by clouds. Rain actually helps to keep your panels operating efficiently by washing away any dust or dirt.

Solar panels on cloudy days do still produce energy. However, the decreasing output of power to sunlight remains. Yes, a solar system's "amount of electricity generated" lowers during rain or clouds.

Most solar panels available today are designed to be waterproof, so rainfall by itself will not have any negative impact on them. Extreme weather events, however, can cause damage.

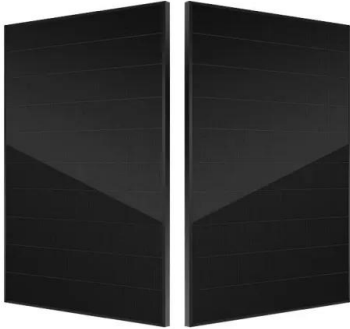

Do solar panels work in the rain?

As with cloud cover, solar panels will still work in the rain, but it all depends on how much sunlight can penetrate the clouds.

On rainy or cloudy days, photovoltaic panels can produce between 10 and 25 percent of their optimal capacity. The exact amount varies on how dark and heavy the rain and cloud cover is.
