In order to reduce the dependency on imported fuels for electricity, Wallis and Futuna are investing in renewable energy solutions. Solar energy has been identified as a particularly viable option, and efforts are being made to install solar panels and encourage the use of solar water heaters in homes and businesses.

The islands' remote location and reliance on imported fuel have made the transition to renewable energy sources both an ecological and economic imperative. Solar power initiatives, in particular, are being rolled out, with installations providing clean energy to public buildings and homes.

The Global Solar Atlas provides a summary of solar power potential and solar resources globally. It is provided by the World Bank Group as a free service to governments, developers and the general public, and allows users to quickly obtain data and carry out a simple electricity output calculation for any location covered by the solar resource .

The largest collection of free solar radiation maps. Download maps of GHI, DNI, and PV output power potential for various countries, continents and regions.
