Yushu photovoltaic bracket model

Overview

Does a tracking photovoltaic support system have vibrational characteristics?

In this study, field instrumentation was used to assess the vibrational characteristics of a selected tracking photovoltaic support system. Using ANSYS software, a modal analysis and finite element model of the structure were developed and validated by comparing measured data with model predictions. Key findings are as follows.

Can a photovoltaic array be used to simulate solar energy conversion systems?

Development of a model for photovoltaic arrays suitable for use in simulation studies of solar energy conversion systems. In: Proceedings of the sixth international conference on power electronics and variable speed drives, (Conf Publ No 429); 1996. p. 69–74.

Can a tracking photovoltaic support system reduce wind-induced vibration?

Finite element analysis also showed a slight increase in natural frequencies with increasing inclination angle, which was in good agreement. This suggests that the design of the tracking photovoltaic support system can be optimized to reduce the impact of wind-induced vibration on the tracking photovoltaic support system.
